Economics of the Home

Home economics represents a co-ordination of several kinds of special knowledge and skill in their application to the common needs of daily life. These are: A knowledge of nutrition and food preparation, a knowledge of sanitation and hygiene and art of dressing, a knowledge of sanitation, of the principles of house decoration, of household and institutional management, a knowledge of child care.

Red Used in All Ages

The best in the oldest article of furniture in the world. The Egyptians had high benches to which they climbed by steps, and the Assyrians, Babylonians and Persians followed the same custom. The Greek bed was a wooden frame with a board at the head. The Romans first began the use of metal beds, adding bronze to make them.

CALL CATALONIA SPANISH IRELAND

Ancient Province Has Its Own Flag and Language Carefully Preserved.

Washington.—Accept a position with the government when the government offers it, or have your lands confiscated, and your citizenship canceled. Spain recently posted that edict in the province of Catalonia.

"The odd spectacle of men being compelled to take lucrative government positions has an explanation in the peculiar relation of Catalonia to Spain," says a bulletin of the National Geographic Society, from its headquarters in Washington.

"The geography of Spain is better known in terms of its cities than its sections. Catalonia can be placed readily by calling it 'the province of which Barcelona is the head city'."

Likened to a "Spanish Ireland."

"Politically it can be located by calling it Spanish Ireland. Still Catalonia might resent this label as much as she chafes at Madrid rule, because her history of independence running back to the Ninth century at least is quite ancient enough to warrant Ireland being called instead 'the English Catalonia.' To make Ireland a proper parallel it would be necessary to move from England across the Irish sea most of England's factories and mines and most of her industrious workmen. There would be left in England (now playing the role of Spain) the governing classes and the military. 'Catalonia is the workshop of Spain. It claims to pay nearly 60 per cent of the nation's tax bill. The annual income produced by this single province is reported to be two-thirds that of the entire nation. Although Catalonia covers only one-sixteenth of the area of Spain it supports one-tenth of the population."

"There is an old Spanish proverb that, 'A Catalan can turn stone into bread.'"

"A Catalan is proud of that proverb. Work is raised to high dignity in Catalonia. The Catalan does not envy Madrid or Seville their reputation with tourists as quaint spots where the Middle Ages linger unashamed. He lives in the present. He is proud of Barcelona's rows of workmen's houses and smoketacks. Modern machinery can be found on Barcelona's docks. At the Catalan mines the latest advances in mining engineering are in evidence. The Ebro, which drains the whole south flank of the Pyrenees, is dwindling to a creek because of the rapid increase of irrigation. It is the Catalan's close link with the progressive world that has made Barcelona Spain's glass of fashion and the second city of the nation.

Cling to Their Language.

"Castilian Spanish is official Spanish. It is standard like Parisian French. But once away from Madrid one hears all sorts of variations of Castilian. Go into Catalonia and you will hear another language entirely. The Catalans have spent much time and effort conserving their own language. Newspapers are printed in Catalan. While it is a romance language the tourist equipped with both French and Spanish might as well stop up his ears when he crosses the border. He will be deaf to Catalan."

"If the traveler comes from the North he will run into Catalan language before he crosses the border. For many centuries before Spain and France became well-knit states Catalonia was a saddle over the Mediterranean end of the Pyrenees mountains. On the French side the Catalans have not clung to their heritage with the passion of their Spanish brethren. Most of them, like Marshal Joffre, himself a Catalan, are deeply loyal to France. But in Roussillon, in French Catalonia, one may hear in a short walk through the narrow streets, Spanish, French with a Spanish accent, French with a Catalan accent, Spanish with a Catalan accent, Spanish with a French accent, Catalan with a French accent, and Catalan with a Spanish accent."

"Catalonia has a flag, too. It is a yellow banner with four diagonal red stripes. There is a fine story to the design. A dying Catalan hero drew his bloody fingers across his yellow scarf and gave it to his countrymen for a standard. While the banner does not appear often in public it is introduced in coat of arms, automobile radiator caps and insignia for athletic teams."

Impromptu Bull Fight Staged in City Park

San Antonio, Texas.—An impromptu bull fight that would have turned the eyes of Spain's finest bull fighter green with envy, took place in a suburb of San Antonio.

The bull took French leave from a ranch on Salado creek and entering the suburb of Highland Park here trumped over former beds and gardens. Numerous citizens chased the animal and reined him with nooses which only served to infuriate him the more.

Mounted Officer Frazier, sent from a nearby police station, charged the animal in true bull-fighter style. The animal charged and at the proper moment Frazier put spurs to his horse and the animal leaped safely away. Finally after baiting the bull several times, Frazier managed to rope it and slip a rope through a ring in its nose, completely subduing it.

now watch my smoke!

I'M STARTING the day right—with my jimmy-pipe and a load of Prince Albert. Bring on your work. Heap it up. We three are going to wade through it like a trick dog going through a paper hoop. Me and the pipe and Prince Albert—we can lick any job... like that!

No fooling, Men, P. A. is a grand little pal. It knocks trouble out in the very first round. It smooths out the wrinkles and paints a beautiful sunburst on the darkest cloud. No wonder they call P. A. the National Joy Smoke! It sure is great tobacco.

Prince Albert is as cool and refreshing as the morning plunge. Sweet as a peach, sun-cooked on the tree. Fragrant as a bridal bouquet. I like the way it treats my tongue and throat too. Never a regret, never a protest, no matter how hard I hit it up, morning to midnight.

You may think you're all set on the matter of smokes. I want to say right here and now that unless you have signed on with Prince Albert, you've been missing the treat of your young life. Get yourself a tidy red tin of this wonderful tobacco and see. That's a tip!

PRINCE ALBERT

—no other tobacco is like it!

P. A. is sold everywhere in this red tin, found and half-filled in hand-drawn, and found crystal-clear smokers with sponge-moistener top. And always with every bit of him and pouch covered by the Prince Albert process.

No More Waiting For Grand Jury

Violators of the law who in the past have been unfortunate enough to be arrested and held to await the action of the grand jury during the summer months when the local courts were in recess frequently were compelled to remain in jail for two or three months, even though they were willing to plead "guilty" to certain types of crime were "tried" in cases and the offender was compelled to await the session of a grand jury and after an indictment was found, a plea of guilty could be entered. Frequently men and women were arrested and held for the grand jury and in cases where they were unable to supply bail they remained in jail during the summer months until the fall grand jury had indicted them before their case could be disposed of.

Eliminates Expense and Delay.
Under a recent provision of the law a person held to await the action of the grand jury may file with the court an application to be prosecuted, or information and of this information being drawn stating the charges and facts surrounding the crime, a prosecutor may appear in court and enter a plea. The information sets forth the facts in the case in much the same manner as an indictment issued by a grand jury but the usual expense and expense of grand jury session is eliminated. Not only does this procedure eliminate the grand jury expenses but it hastens the disposition of cases where the defendant desires to plead guilty to the crime charged.

During the past few weeks numerous cases have been disposed of in this way and the county has been saved a very considerable amount of money the time of the district attorney has been saved for work on more important cases and the time of the grand jurors has also been saved.

Disposes of Cases Promptly.
In view of the new provision which allows defendants to be prosecuted on information at a regular term of court County Judge Joseph L. Power has adjourned his June term of court over to July 7 without a recess, so that cases of that nature may be disposed of by adjourning the June term from day to day or week to week, throughout the summer months when there is no regular term of the court called in the county. By continuing the June term of court court during the summer recess an opportunity will be given each week for defendants to appear and have their case disposed of under the new provision of the law.

This procedure will eliminate to a great extent the unusual large amount of criminal work for the summer grand jury. Where defendants desire to plead a waiver and have their cases disposed of during the summer they will be given an opportunity and the grand jury will be able to devote its attention to more serious cases at the fall session.

Luke Robinson husband of the plaintiff, was killed by Sarazen's automobile in the autumn of 1922.

Our Growing Population.
The following births have been reported to the board of health: Mr. and Mrs. Nathan L. Peckham 112 Wall street, a son, William Carl at Kingston City Hospital.

Mr. and Mrs. Louis Lantz, Lat Strand, a son Peter.

New Time Table.

Dog Saved Owner's Life.
Henry B. Spencer, of Jamaica, credited his life to Rex, his nine-month-old bird dog, who proved his loyalty in a hand-to-hand fight with a wolf or cougar and her three cubs. Mr. Spencer, who is missing in the Ozark mountains, was suddenly confronted with the animals. He was unarmed and the hostile shower, Rex, Spencer, showed signs at the moment of danger, in doing so he saved his master and his life. Before the cougar could spring, Rex appeared and struck one of the cubs. This distracted the animal, which turned on the dog. The dog was also to retreat. The dog came through with only minor injuries.

Blind Saved in Motor Car.
A woman of a motor car was freed from danger in a motor car accident on the New York State Thruway. The car was overturned and the woman was trapped. A blind man, who was passing by, saw the accident and ran to the aid of the woman. He helped her out of the car and she was freed from danger.

Drop Cloche From Paris Hat Styles

Small Model Still in Vogue; Large Chapeau Shown for Summer Wear.

The hat consciousness idea being broadcast contradicts a long tradition which has been directed to the end of forcing cloths and of being either sincere or at least politically unconscious of dress including our bonnet style. Fashion writer in the New York Times. However we are conscious to become keenly alive and observant, especially of millinery, and to evolve from our unconsciousness an appreciation of our type and artistic possibilities. American women are moving constantly further away from the old-time conventional and they are following the fashions as such, whatever they happen to be in order to express themselves in terms of their own individuality.

Sometimes there seem to be long periods of monotony in which nothing but the commonplace is referred to. It seems a stupid consistency when in fact these things take is unbroken chain of quality of art or taste. What can does really pass there is compensation for both the milliner who creates and the woman who wears the fresh inspired creations. This season, there is much of art significance and genuineness in the milliner's more beauty and achievement in color. Artists say that understanding of color in dress is just making itself felt, and certainly it is illuminating the whole world of fashion in women's dress.

Little Hat a Favorite.
A little hat shape, like an inverted saucer has been for a striking feature of the season of the fashion picture. Plain unadorned to many exceedingly uncomfortable with not one line of grace or other distinction than its name, the cloche has become and has "sensation" remained in style. Numerous cheapness and all that goes to make common and the mode has no such effect, poor this hat wears. Season after season it has been beloved alike of the woman who is anxious and of the man who must be economical.

At the beginning of this summer in millinery exhibitions from Paris and at home showed much of the familiar cloche shape. To this were added in feather in sunbonnet, straw silk or cloth and later in straw or straw combined with silk. With a shabby, varied trim treatment, a bit more elasticity in trimming the cloche by that or some other name still has its friends in the heart of the world.

Gradually the right round shape has been succeeded, however by the Gogon and other variants of border atmosphere some of them historical, reminiscent, and picturesque in each of them the crown is high and in the Gogon and shades or similar line and feeding the crown material—whether it is a cluster of folds, a few wrinkles or a set of wrinkles of the goose—has that appearance of sophisticated simplicity that is very misleading. The effect is really an evidence of skill, and most amateur milliners who try it will not be a plain unbroken surface. One of the first spring models from Moscow has been very successful and is likely to carry on for several months. This hat is built of straw in summer—one of the inner shades—and is trimmed with a band and two ornaments, each of brown crocheted ribbon. The crown lies at the back and slopes toward the front, is gathered into a cluster of folds to the side and the trim, throat, narrow, is drawn low across the eyes and turns sharply up across the back.

Three clearly defined novelties are illustrated in this mode—the shape, the use of crocheted ribbon, and the combination of brown with tan, beige, and other near relatives.

It is said of Moscow that the crown of every hat from this house, whatever its material, is created which appears to be the idea of most millinery designers. Apart from the more or less widespread hat, the firmness is presented in several models of compelling attraction. In a conspicuous smart design a turban with lank

Daddy's Evening Fairy Tale

By MARY GRAHAM BONNER

MRS. WOODLAND CARIBOU

"Good-morning, Mrs. Caribou," said Mr. Caribou, "when did you arrive at the zoo?"

"Yesterday, when you were asleep," said Mrs. Caribou.

"I was a present to the zoo," said Mr. Caribou, "very interesting," said Mrs. Caribou. "But just what is a present?"

"A present," commenced Mrs. Caribou, "is, well, it is a present."

"So I imagined," smiled Mr. Caribou.

"But what sort of a present is a present? Do tell me quickly, or I will be quite mixed up."

"I have it, I have it," shrieked Mrs. Caribou with joy.

"What have you got—another present?"

"No! I'm a present myself, though I might have another one for myself, that is true," said Mrs. Caribou.

"Will you please explain yourself for I am getting horribly mixed up," said Mr. Caribou.

"Certainly," agreed Mrs. Caribou.

"A present, Mr. Caribou, is a gift—something one gives or presents to some one."

"It might be a box of candy, or a big patch of reindeer moss, a book for those who like to read, or lichen for a caribou."

"But you are none of these things," said Mr. Caribou.

"No, but I, myself, was a great and valuable gift to the zoo."

"They can tell people that I came from Newfoundland, though I believe you came from Alaska, didn't you?"

Mr. Caribou nodded his big head, for the Woodland Caribou family are very big with large heads, enormous hoofs and loose joints.

"And they will tell the people," continued Mrs. Caribou, "that it is not safe to let us have too much green grass or it would hurt us as we are used to living on reindeer moss, tree moss and lichen grass."

"They can also tell the people that we have our own snow-shoes," said Mr. Caribou.

"Yes, because of our great hoofs and strong claws we can run over the snow just as though we had regular snow-shoes."

"We always have ours ready, you see, for we never leave our feet behind us!"

"Good joke," chuckled Mrs. Caribou, "and a true one, too."

"For no caribou would leave his or her feet behind, and our snow-shoes are our own which can get so easily over the snow!"

"But now you know what a present is," she ended.

"I do," said Mr. Caribou, "and I think we were both nice gifts to the zoo, for now I understand the meaning of the word I realize I was a present, too, at one time."

"Yes, if I do say so myself, I think we were nice presents."

"Certainly it is something a good deal more important to receive a caribou as a present than a box of candy or a book."

"Dear, dear me, they're not to be compared. Not to be compared."

"No certainly not to be compared," said Mrs. Caribou.

Unusual Feet

Jack went with his mother to visit on a neighboring porch, where a small group was chatting.

During the visit Jack wondered too close to the edge, and to the horror of every one, fell headlong the full length of the steps. Of course, everybody was frightened, thinking surely the child was injured, but before any one could reach him he was on his feet, and looking up with a foolish little smile on his frightened face, he gasped: "I'll bet you couldn't do that!"

Enslaved the Dog

Jimmie had been given a dog for his birthday and when Tommy went over to see it he found Jimmie's mother getting it.

He eyed her wistfully for a moment and said: "My, but I wish my mother and dog lived each other."

GAS BUGGIES or HEM AND ANY—When Brave Men Trouble.

3 AMONG THOSE MOST DISTURBED BY THE RUMORS ABOUT HEMS NEW PETRIFIED GAS SUBSTITUTE, IS MR. GLOBS, WHOSE LIFETIME HAS BEEN DEVOTED TO BUILDING UP A PROSPEROUS GASOLINE BUSINESS UPON WHICH HE HAD EXPECTED TO LEAN IN HIS OLD AGE

A woman used to leave her mark on a man with a rolling pin. Now she uses a lipstick.

Tastes differ as we grow older, and it is hard for grown-ups to understand the little boy's delight when a lightning bug gets into his ice cream cone.

"Lafe Lagg's wife sings to him every evening," in the post office at Booger Hoiler, related Jig Fiddling. "Just sets and sings for hours at a time."

"Does he complain much about it?" asked someone.

"Not precisely; but he says he's about made up his mind to get a divorce for her or kill her, and he hasn't quite decided which."

You haven't done much if a lot of folks don't envy you.

Hang!

I work in an office, the books I keep for thirty dollars flat; I stayed over time and fell asleep. You can't blame me for that.

Now in that office are twenty girls who pound the typewriter key. And after the twenty had quit and gone home.

This vision came to me. The typewriters all turned into girls. And started to dance and sing. With a well-oiled click these maids would kick.

And shimmy and everything. Each had a letter upon her head. And some funny things were spelled.

Some were really nice. But the rest were best withheld. These maidens and I became good friends.

I could not stand their loss—'Til someone rapped me on the bean. And I woke up to find 'twas the boss!

She—What makes you think you understand women so well?
He—I've been engaged to four different girls and never failed to get back the rings.

A man who stays out all night is sure sooner or later to get in the habit of looking on the dark side of life.

Correct this sentence: "He is an alien and makes more money than I can," said the man, "but I am not prejudiced against him."

Wife (reading)—"They reckon very shortly all work will be done by simply touching a button—"

Husband—"I can't imagine you touching a button! Look at my aching!"

Teacher—Johnny, you may tell us about the Boston Tea Party.

Johnny—I guess you will have to ask me. She is the only one at our house who reads the society page.

"They ought to put a stop to it," said young Mrs. Torkins, who had been to a lecture on radio. "The idea of scattering all those messages indiscriminately through the air we breathe. It must be very unhealthy."

"That's right," agreed her husband. "And there are so many bedtime stories floating around that half the time I feel sleepy."

They're much alike. Men talk shop and women talk shopping.

Admiral Writes About Our Navy

American Navy Started During Revolutionary War With 13 Vessels—Some Daring Naval Deeds Sketched by Admiral Higginson.

As part of the celebration of American Independence Week, Rear Admiral Francis J. Higginson, U. S. N., retired, has prepared, at the request of Wiltwyck Chapter, D. A. R., an interesting review of the early American Navy.

"The Navy in the Revolution" is the title of Admiral Higginson's contribution, which is as follows:

To Mrs. T. D. Lewis, Regent of Wiltwyck Chapter, D. A. R.:
 My Dear Mrs. Lewis: I enclose you herewith an article on "The Navy in the Revolution," as you requested.

Respectfully,
 F. J. HIGGINSON.

The Navy in the Revolution.

In this anniversary year when everything connected with the birth of our nation is being examined and commemorated it is interesting to note the beginning of our Navy.

During our Colonial period there was of course, no necessity for creating a Navy as the Colonies were under the protection of the Navy of Great Britain but with our assumption of independence the defense of that act became an obligatory one on the sea as on the land.

George Washington while in command of the Army at Boston being short of powder had commissioned and armed some vessels as privateers in September, 1775, and his act having been sanctioned by Congress these converted merchantmen assumed for the time being a national character and justified their creation by capturing a British transport loaded with powder and ammunition which relieved Washington from a serious handicap.

The first official action of the Continental Congress toward the establishment of a Navy was on June 14, 1775, when a committee to consider, inquire and report with respect to the organizations of the Naval force was ordered. This committee was composed of Robert Morris, chairman; Philip Livingston, Benj. Harrison, John Hancock, John Hewes, Nicholas Van Dyke, members.

In consequence of this action 13 vessels were constructed on Naval lines and were completed in 1776, but some of these never succeeded in getting to sea and the rest were either captured or burned at the end of the war but not until they had done important service for the country.

Thus were many daring deeds done during the Revolutionary War on the ocean. Lambert Wilkes in command of a national vessel made prizes off the English coast. Augustus Cunningham made some bold captures in the English channel which astonished everybody thus carrying the Naval war to the doors of England, but the man who made the most permanent and conspicuous record during the Revolutionary War was John Paul Jones. He became the hero of one of the most famous naval duels in history.

With a squadron of three ships led by the Bonhomme Richard he met Captain Pearson with the Serapis and Scarborough conveying a fleet of merchant vessels off the coast of Flamborough Head, Scotland, and at once the two flagships engaged in a desperate conflict. It was the evening of September 25, 1779, when the battle opened, and during the long hours of the night the boom of cannon rolled across the waters. In the midst of the battle Jones ran his vessel into her antagonist and ceased firing for the moment, when Captain Pearson called out "Have you struck your colors?" "I have not yet begun to fight," was the now famous answer of Jones. At length the two ships were lashed together by the command of the Serapis, where it ignited a row of cartridges, and in the frightful explosion that followed twenty men were blown to pieces. Still the two commanders doggedly continued the battle until both ships were on fire and half their crews were dead or wounded, when at last the Serapis surrendered. Both vessels were ruined, and the Bonhomme Richard sank the next morning. Meantime the Pallas had captured the Scarborough and the American victory was complete.

But while the Navy vessels made little impression upon the overwhelming Naval force of Great Britain the private armed vessels, the privateers, made a serious inroad upon her West India commerce, so much so that insurance rates ran up to 25 per cent of the value of ship and cargo and the value of cargoes captured in 1776 alone was estimated to be $3,000,000.

Altogether during the war 509 privateers employing 30,000 men were sent out by the Colonies to wage war on British commerce. Two-thirds of these men were from Massachusetts and the rest from New England States and Delaware River.

"Y" the Place for Boys to Swim

Swimming Pool and Supervision Remove Dangers Encountered Elsewhere—Recent Activities Furnish Boys With a "Well-Worth-While Time."

Just because it is hot, does not stop the boys of the "Y" from having a "well-worth-while time."

Monday several of the boys with Mr. Hall journeyed to Albany and spent the afternoon in the museum of the Educational building.

Tuesday a small party left the "Y" at 6:30 in the morning and rode to Willsbrook Lodge, parked the Lizzie, and then climbed to the top of Slide Mountain. No records were established in the climb or the descent, but a mighty good time was had by those who went.

These two trips are just samples of what the program for the boys at the "Y" calls for this summer. And the summer membership rate entitles a boy to all the privileges of the "Y" during the two summer months. A swim five times a week at least, the opportunity to learn to swim, an opportunity to learn to swim better.

Parents should make it a point to have their boys learn to swim and where is there a better place to learn than in the association pool? Here, where the boy is supervised and every precaution taken to safeguard him, is the place to learn. The rivers, "holes", etc., where so many find enjoyment are not the safest place. The water under the Y. M. C. A. tank is constantly being filtered. It is purer water than that which comes from the ordinary house faucet, because the association last year installed a filtration plant that takes the city water, filters it, and then constantly draws water from the pool, filters it, purifies it, and returns it to the tank. Analysis of the water, made frequently, shows it to be absolutely free from germs and infections.

Many boys have already indicated their interest in the honor emblems and are working for them. Anyone can begin at any time to work for and win this emblem.

The Summer Bible School that was held at the "Y" during the past summer will be repeated this year. It is open to boys 11 years of age and older, who want to spend a period of Bible study twice each week. Following the study period there will be a short gymnasium game period and a swim. Boys who are not members of the "Y" may attend this class and will receive swimming instruction if necessary.

The first class will be held on Tuesday morning, July 6, at 9:30 o'clock.

STONE RIDGE.

Stone Ridge, June 30.—At the meeting of Stone Ridge Grange on Monday evening, June 21, a very enjoyable program was put on by the trustees. This program consisted of a piano solo by Miss Alberta Davis, recitation by Ross Osterhoudt, piano solo by Vivian Bishop. Ice cream and cake was served by the refreshment committee. Fred Davis, one of the trustees, treated all the ladies to candy and all the gentlemen to cigars. The next meeting of the Grange will be held on Tuesday evening, July 6. The entertainment will be in charge of the home economic committee. Mrs. Don Gillespie, Mrs. Harry Green, Mrs. Ervin Schoonmaker, Mrs. Elmer Smith, Mrs. Harry Snyder. The refreshments will be in charge of Mr. and Mrs. R. Heiter, host and hostess.

Don't forget the Chautauqua to be held in the Grange Hall on July 16th, 17th and 18th.

The Rev. Cornelius Van Tol will be absent for the month of July. The Reformed Church will be closed during that time.

There will be no Christian Endeavor service on Sunday evening, July 4th.

Mrs. Milton Elmendorf, Miss Alberta Davis and Albert Hasbrouck will leave on Friday, July 2nd, for Saratoga Springs to attend the State Christian Endeavor Convention.

Dr. and Mrs. James Cantline have returned from Holland, Mich.

The Ladies Aid Society of the Reformed Church will hold its regular monthly business meeting at the home of Mrs. M. L. B. Hasbrouck on Thursday afternoon, July 1st. Plans will be made for the fair and food sale to be held August 11th to 14th.

Mr. and Mrs. Howard Teller of Walkkill and Mrs. Mary Keator of Tiltons spent Saturday and Sunday with Dr. and Mrs. Sherman.

Mrs. Percy Schoonmaker has gone to Iowa for a six weeks' visit with relatives.

Miss Fanny Elmendorf of Poughkeepsie is visiting relatives in this village.

The dances in the Grange Hall are well attended.

William Roosa attended the Daughters' League convention at Buffalo.

Nearly seventy patrons responded to roll call at Plattekill Grange No. 923 on Saturday evening, June 26. It consisted of a vocal solo by Clarence Edler, a vocal duet by Mr. and Mrs. Harry Coleman, a song by Ethel Lozier and Lolita Harris, a reading by Mrs. William Harris and recitations by Bessie Harris and Mrs. Harry Coleman.

The refreshment committee were Clifford and Kathryn Hotelling, Mr. and Mrs. E. A. Radker, Mr. and Mrs. Perry DuBois, Mrs. Marcus Birch and Alfred Zimmer. They served delicious strawberries, cake and iced tea.

The children were carefully trained by the organist, Mrs. Richard Davis, assisted by Mrs. Louie Palkovics and Miss Dorothy Schickler, teachers and Miss Grace Anderson of Rockville Center, L. Marlboro Students Receive Prizes

Marlborough, June 30.—The awarding of prizes for scholastic achievements, always one of the most interesting parts of the commencement programs of the Marlborough school, was one of the concluding parts of the graduation exercises Monday evening. Mrs. D. D. Taylor, as is the custom, announced the awards and gave out the prizes.

Grace Botitta was the winner of two prizes, one for the highest scholarship average, among the girls, 84.32, and another for the highest average in Latin, 87. Each prize was five dollars, the first given by Mrs. Taylor, the second by Mrs. John Rusk.

Wendell Bloomer, whose average of scholarship, 86.61, was the highest among the boys, also received five dollars from Mrs. Taylor and won another prize also for the highest average in mathematics, 94.6. The latter prize was made by Mrs. B. Herberich.

For the showing greatest improvement in written and spoken English, Thomas Rizzo received five dollars, donated by Miss Cornelia Purdy, a former teacher in the school. The same amount of money was given to Florence Mackey for the highest average in French, 83.

Muriel Stettelson was given a year's subscription to "Nature Magazine" by the Garden Club for the highest average in biology, 87.6. A special prize given by the board of education, a gift of five dollars, goes to the high school student whom student and teachers select by vote as the one excelling most in "general deportment, efficiency, kindness, honesty and thoughtfulness toward classmates and teachers." Margaret Quimby, a member of the junior class, received the honor, and Frances Casey, one of the seniors, was given special honorable mention.

In accordance with annual custom, the First National Bank of Marlborough gave each of the seniors a five dollar gold piece.

An additional prize was offered by Mr. Taylor, but the winner will not be announced till the opening of school in the fall. This award will go to the student having the highest grade in the regents' tests in geometry. The winner of this prize will not be known until the complete returns from the examination papers are in.

DIGS UP $200,000 IN GOLD COINS CONCEALED ON FARM

Kentuckian Uncovers Treasure Buried by His Father During the Days of the Civil War.

Demopolis, Ala.—Aided by old papers his father left him, Gayus Whitfield of Middleboro, Ky., has unearthed buried gold valued at more than $200,000 on the Whitfield farm near here. The discovery of the treasure came as the result of a search which began in the spring.

Directions for locating the gold were contained in papers left to his son by C. Boaz Whitfield, member of one of the oldest and most aristocratic families of Alabama and descendant of the pioneer general, Nathan Bryan Whitfield.

When Gayus Whitfield began his search 35 negroes were employed to uncover an old boundary stake on the Shady Grove farm, 18 miles from Demopolis, near Jefferson. For a week the large force worked without results, but later a large cache of gold coins was discovered. It consists of $20 gold pieces, minted in 1850 and before, which were buried by the wealthy Boaz Whitfield in Civil war days.

There are eight heirs who may put in claims for the gold, all of them daughters and sons of the four Whitfield brothers, born in Civil war days, themselves sons of Nathan Whitfield.

Other gold coins had been found on the old Whitfield place prior to the discovery. It is learned, but the matter of instituting an active search for buried treasure was never given much attention by the Whitfield family until the old key left by C. Boaz Whitfield was found in Kentucky.

Citizens here express the belief that Boaz Whitfield buried the gold to prevent its seizure by Union forces. Similar instances are recalled by older inhabitants, but in no case is so large an amount involved.

Ex-Kaiser's Palace to Be Gambling Resort

Cortu, Greece.—The magnificent palace here once owned by former Emperor Wilhelm of Germany soon is to be converted into a gambling casino. The Athens government and an Italian promoter are negotiating with the idea of making the long-abandoned imperial residence a profit-producing enterprise for the Greeks. Many residents of Cortu long have been in favor of converting the island into a modern Monte Carlo with its center the one-time German imperial estate.

From Doorn, Holland, where he is in exile, the former German war lord has protested that he still is the owner of the palace and its spacious grounds, and says he objects bitterly to the plan of transforming it into a gambling resort. His claim is not recognized by the Greek government, which confiscated the property under the alien property act during the world war. For a long time the building and grounds were occupied by the American Near East Relief hospital. Thousands of Greek refugees were treated there after the Smyrna disaster.

The palace was erected by the former kaiser many years ago as a gift to his sister. As she never occupied it, William himself used it as a stopping place on his Mediterranean cruises.

10 Months' Auto Taxes Increase $25,000,000

Washington.—Taxes collected by the government on automobiles in the first ten months of the fiscal year ending April 30, 1926, were more than $25,000,000 in excess of the amount collected during the corresponding period of last year, according to compilations issued by the internal revenue bureau. Figures from 12 of the heaviest tax-paying states showed $96,199,978.22 for 1926 and $72,008,173.45 for 1925.

New York's automobile taxes for 1926 were $2,327,953.36, compared to $1,879,532.60 for 1925. Michigan pays the largest automobile tax in the country, the figures being $72,189,967.49 for 1926 and $54,935,726.23 for 1925.

New Yorkers paid less on cigars and cigarettes for the ten months ending April 30, 1926, than in 1925, the figures being $4,362,770.60 in 1925 and $3,736,831.66 in 1926.

Only Middle-Aged Dance in London's Night Clubs

London, England.—Gray heads, or heads that would be gray if nature had not been assisted, are so numerous in London night clubs that newspapers generally agree with the statement of the late Sir Squire Bancroft that the "young-man-about-town" no longer exists in England.

The Kit-Cat and other well-known London night clubs are the haunts of the middle-aged and aged. Practically none of the dancers is really young. This is true of the women as well as the men.

Youth has its fling in the popular dance halls where the coat is loos and it is not necessary to be so formally dressed.

British Criticism Of Hagen Justified

In Opinion of Many American Newspapers—Which Have Shown Golf Star to be Lacking in Manners.

New York, June 30.—Very much disturbed over the fact that the jolly old British had been irritated, New York papers, devoting columns to the now-famous Walter Hagen incident, were almost a unit today in declaring that the American professional had been quite reprehensible, both for his criticism of English golf and his failure to appear in time for the Mitchell match. It seemed to be the prevailing idea that Hagen had gone too far.

The New York papers were only a few years late with their decision. It seemed, for example, that he might have gone too far on one alleged occasion in Washington, according to Maurice McCarthy, local professional, Hagen once was late for a links appointment with the late President Harding, which, if true, seems to have the Mitchell matter somewhat outlashed.

It might appear that Hagen went too far only a month or more ago when some one arranged a "farewell luncheon" for him aboard the Aquitania the day before he sailed for England.

Guests appeared by the dozens at the appointed hour, the food was ready and so were the orators. But the guest of honor was missing and he stayed missing. After an hour and a half, some bright soul suggested that eating was a lifelong habit in his family and the idea was well and favorably received. They ate and then went on about their business.

Hagen finally appeared about 3:30 o'clock, when all but one of the guests had gone, admitted that he was a little late and let it go at that.

A rather famous New York sport critic, who seems to be a durable dandy in the matter of accepting punishment, admits to having made three engagements to play a round of golf with Hagen, none of which the latter kept. Twice, he just turned up missing. The third time, he telephoned to the appointed country club, miles distant from the city, to say that he wouldn't be there.

As it was then almost an hour later than the time set for the engagement, this merely served to confirm a suspicion that had been gathering in the critic's mind for some little time.

Whether Hagen's belated arrival for the Mitchell match was intentional or merely the result of his refusal to be annoyed by details, the writer is not prepared to say.

On his statement that the British were "too gosh-darned-lazy" to play good golf, there is no question that Hagen was guilty of questionable taste. When your host asks you if you liked the breakfast, you reply automatically that you did. You say this even if the toast was two shades blacker than Mussolini's shirt and it is well that you do. This would be a tough old world, indeed, if one went about telling everyone what he thought of them, hosts in particular.

Bobby Jones had the right idea. Realizing that his position was that of a temporary ambassador to a foreign land, he murmured a few sweet nothings on the subject of "luck," when asked about his victory. By contrast, Hagen's adverse comment became a gratuitous gibe at his defeated opponents.

Latzo Kayos Harmon in Fifth

Newark, N. J., June 30.—Any lingering doubts that Pete Latzo, king of the welterweight division, is a real champion, had been dispelled today as a result of Latzo's knockout of Willie Harmon in the fifth round of their fight here last night. Making his first ring appearance since winning the title from Mickey Walker, the Scranton miner settled the issue with a hard right to the body and two staggering lefts to the jaw when the round was almost ended.

It was the first time in his career that Harmon had been knocked out. He had a big lead on points in the first four rounds but was overwhelmed by the sudden onslaught of the champion, who had been merely hiding his time.

In the early rounds Harmon had been stepping around the champion, hooking him to the face and body with a rapier-like left hook. His aggressiveness and clever footwork made the champion look bad until Latzo began finding the range.

Latzo weighed 153, six pounds over the welterweight limit, and Harmon tipped the scales at 144½.

MASS. OPEN GOLF MATCH UNDER WAY.

Worcester, Mass., June 30.—With Tom Lally of San Antonio, the present champion, fighting to hold his title against 108 golfers—76 professionals and 32 amateurs—the Massachusetts Open Golf Championship Tournament was on tap at the Country Club here today. Rain threatened.

The 72 holes medal play held under the auspices of the Massachusetts Golf Association, promised to be one of the best golf tournaments ever staged in New England. The entry list exceeded that of any previous year.

Lally, in order to retain his title, must defeat a far better class of players than he faced a year ago at the Charles River Country Club. Three New Yorkers, Mike Brady, Jim Donaldson and Johnny Farrell, as well as players from other parts of the country and the best professionals and amateurs of New England, compete in the tournament.

Among the prominent New Englanders in the contest are Jesse P. Guilford of Woodlawn, Ralph Munro, present state junior champion, and Guy Mayer, present Rhode Island champion, Willie Ogg, Worcester, professional, winner of the title of two years ago, and Jack Stair, of Hartford, Conn.

YALE LEADS IN GOLF TEAM TOURNEY

Haverford, Pa., June 30.—Yale today held the lead after the first 36 holes in an attempt to retain the Intercollegiate Golf Team Championship at the Merion Cricket Club. Yale had a total after yesterday's play of 649, ten strokes better than Dartmouth, its nearest rival. Princeton and Harvard were tied for third place with 660.

The remaining thirty-six holes will be played in conjunction with the qualifying round for the individual championship today.

The other six teams finished as follows: Penn 682; Drake 689; Union 707; Williams 710; Holy Cross 725; Penn State 742.

Tagging Major League Bases

The Reds pushed the Pirates further down the ladder with another well-directed kick, trouncing them 6 to 3 for the fifth time in succession. Carl Mays continued his good pitching while Kremer was no puzzle.

Brooklyn nosed out the Phillies in the eleventh, 4 to 3, and advanced to within one game of the third-place Pirates. Marriott's two homers featured.

Cooney and Goldsmith qualified as Giant-killers as the Braves ran amuck and took two games from New York, 5 to 0 and 7 to 3. The "jinks" made seven bobbles in the field and suffered an equal number of mental lapses.

Dugan's four hits and homers by Ruth and Gehrig enabled the Yanks to subdue the Athletics, 7 to 5. It was No. 26 for the Babe and put him three games, or two homers, behind his 1921 record.

Joe Shaute beat the White Sox, 4 to 2, as Cleveland jumped to third place.

Slim Harries, making his debut with the Red Sox, held the Senators to five hits and gained a 2 to 1 decision over Coveleski. Flagstad continued his hitting streak and scored both of Boston's runs.

Scoring in every inning except the fourth, the Browns went crazy from the heat in St. Louis and slaughtered the Tigers 11 to 3. Sisler and Bing Miller led the attack with three hits apiece.

Artistics Topple From First Place

The Standard Oil defeated the Artistics 5 to 3, Tuesday evening at the Athletic Field and toppled them from first place in the Industrial Baseball League. The defeat puts the Uni-Slyke in the lead by half a game.

Cragan was too much for the shrimps. He struck out eleven and figured in three of the other put outs. There were only four of the shrimps who could solve his delivery. He also helped the oilmen out with a two-base hit and a single.

Fitzgerald, better known as "Bannon", was hit freely by the oilmen. He was touched for thirteen hits and eight runs. Bannon has been working hard lately and gave away to Jones in the last inning.

The first inning looked as if the fans were in store for a real pitchers' duel, when both sides were retired in order. It did not last that way long for in the second each team scored one run.

Bannon started to weaken in the third, the oilmen pouncing on him for three runs. Vining singled to left field and took second on Corri-gan's out. Shultis got a hit to left. Knight making a hard try for it. Vining and Shultis scored on Williams's triple to center field. Williams scored on Stauble's bad throw home, after retreating Bradley. Hasbrouck brought the inning to a close by striking out.

The Artistics tried hard to tie the score in the fourth inning but fell short by one run. Knight hit one to right field and Finley walked. Brophy connected with one and Knight and Finley registered. Stauble and Lewis fanned and Bannon hit a slow roller to Hyatt. The Artistics could get but one man on base after that as Cragan bore down on them.

The oilmen scored two in the fifth and two in the sixth on six hits. Shultis getting a double. Percy Jones held them down in the last inning.

Side Liners. But one game separates the first four teams. Any one of the clubs has a chance to cop the cup.

The Artistics seemed to be lost without their coach, Jordan, who puts a lot of pep in them. Jordan had the misfortune of losing his mother.

Last night's game was the fastest this season. It took but an hour and fifteen minutes.

Outside of fanning eleven, tagging one out, and having two assists, Cragan didn't have anything to do.

Last of Original Ruppert Men

Wally Pipp, Veteran First Baseman.

With a few tears and a sigh or two, Col. Jake Ruppert, owner of the New York Yankees, dropped a sentence into the mail the other day that sent Wally Pipp, his veteran first baseman, to the Cincinnati Reds.

When New York ball players are discarded and shipped to other less prosperous clubs, they have a way of saying that they have been transported down the river.

There is very little sentiment in big league baseball. It is a cold proposition and when the legs of a respected veteran slow him up or when the peg leaves the arm, the open is the only reward.

With Wally Pipp and Jake Ruppert, however, the case was different. Pipp was the only player on the Yankee club who was a regular when Ruppert and his daring former partner, Colonel Huston, paid a million dollars for a baseball name.

Called Them Crazy. Baseball men, wise in the ways of the game, said that the two colonels were crazy when they bought the Yankees. They said they were mad when they opened the pocketbook for Babe Ruth, and they wanted a lunacy commission appointed when they built a ball park that would seat 60,000 or more.

But the colonels made their critics weep. The Yankees won pennants. The Babe hit home runs day after day, but it was Wally Pipp who was the real punch in the pinch.

Urban Shocker, who is now a member of the Yank pitching staff, once said, when he was working for the St. Louis Browns, that Pipp was the hardest batter in the American league to pitch to.

"You can take your chances on Ruth," he said, "but you can never figure that Pipp."

Two-Fisted Fighter. In addition to being a high-class ball player and a gentleman, Pipp was ranked as one of the best two-fisted fighters in the league. He never carried a chip on his shoulder, but when pressed he knew how to take care of himself.

It is related that Babe Ruth told Pipp one afternoon that he didn't like the way Pipp was running the bases and the Babe went to the hotel after the game with two shiners and a cut lip. From that time on the Babe and Wally were fast friends.

There is a lot of baseball left in Pipp and he certainly will plug up the hole that the Cincinnati club has had at first base.

Backstopper Gonzales

Mike Gonzales, veteran backstop for the Chicago Cubs, continues to play a clever game as understudy to Gabby Hartnett. The Cuban fields nicely and his hitting has been strong and timely.

Ed Walsh, Jr., son of the famous White Sox hurler, in addition to pitching is a track star and candidate for fullback on the Notre Dame eleven.

The Cubs have optioned infielder Clyde Beck to the Milwaukee club of the American association. He is subject to recall on 24 hours' notice.

Mexico is organizing a baseball league and soon the people may be expected to work off their enthusiasm on umpires, instead of starting revolutions.

Going back to the minor leagues is not a demotion. Looking at it rightly it is a promotion, provided a player is not in the regular lineup of a major league club.

Holme Groh has fitted into the Toledo infield in good shape. The former Giant is getting his hits and playing a whale of a game at third. He is doing the lead-off trick.

Business Manager Bill Friel of the St. Louis Browns announces the release of Catcher Tom Porter to the Terre Haute club of the Three-I league, and Pitcher Dennis White to the Jacksonville club of the Middle Atlantic league.

It is understood that Cincinnati obtained pitcher George Dunnet, veteran right-hander, from the Minnesota club of the American association, on 30-day trial with option of purchase. Manager Hendricks probably figures that Dunnet, with his good curve, will be a valuable relief man.

Memorial at St. Peter's Cemetery

Impressive Ceremonies at St. Peter's Cemetery When Memorial to Miss Sotie M. Rice Was Presented to Cemetery.

St. Peter's Cemetery was the scene Tuesday evening of a most impressive ceremony, being the solemn blessing of a memorial of rare beauty, this being a gift to all that sleep in God's Acre and is in affectionate memory of Miss Sotie Mercedes Rice, daughter of the Hon. and Mrs. Jacob Rice, who was called back to God November 12, 1924. This memorial is of pure white Carrara marble and comprises a group of four life sized figures typifying Calvary. The sculpturing, which is of surpassing beauty, was executed in the Bernadini studios, Italy, and is a splendid example of Italian art and a most fitting tribute to those who sleep in the Lord.

The Crucified Savior, looking tenderly down on His Sorrowful Mother is most exquisitely carved. To the right is the beloved Disciple, St. John with face uplifted depicting great depth of spirituality while Mary Magdalen in utter anguish is prostrate at the feet of her dying master.

This marvelous work of artistry and technique stands on a marble base representing an altar where the Holy Sacrifice of the Mass, the renewal of Calvary, will take place on Memorial and All Souls' Day, these being the occasions dedicated to the beloved dead. Preceding the blessing, St. Peter's choir, under the able direction of Professor Schwalbach, rendered most feelingly the Stabat Mater. Following this the litany was recited by the Rev. Fathers Hubbard and De Krom. The Rev. Father Sanderson, C. S. R., delivered a most eloquent and inspiring address explanatory of the deep and hidden meaning of this wonderful work of art. He spoke of its special fitness as a monument for the resting place of the dead, and referred with infinite charm of spirituality to the doctrine of the Resurrection as flowing from Calvary, and the tragedy of the cross as the gateway to eternal life.

The pastor, Father Neumann, in his usual scholarly manner, accepted this gift in behalf of his congregation and paid a tender tribute to the sweet and edifying character of Miss Sotie Rice through whose generosity and Christian faith this wonderful gift was made possible. With a voice ringing with pathos he urged his people to make frequent and prayerful visits to this group which would instill into their hearts a fervent love and a lasting memory for all who rest in God's Acre.

Cole, pastor of the Albany Avenue Baptist Church, will be the preacher, and on August 8, in the Fourth of July and the centennial of the adoption of the Declaration of Independence, the service will be of a patriotic character on the topic, "The Birthdays of a Nation."

St. Mary's Junior Meeting.

Hendrick Hudson Opens at Troy

Newest Link in Chain of American Hotels Corporation Has Formal Opening at Which Governor Smith Spoke—Attended by Kingston Delegation.

The Hendrick Hudson at Troy, newest link in the chain of the American Hotels Corporation, had its formal opening banquet Tuesday night. There was food and oratory in plenty and dancing afterward. A delegation from The Governor Clinton, headed by President Herbert Carl, shepherded by Manager George H. Wartman, conveyed by Frank R. Powley, conveyed in part by Arthur Wicks, with John Gregory in charge of the music and A. J. Burns to lend dignity to the occasion, participated in the festivities, conveyed Kingston's felicitations on the auspicious occasion and otherwise did credit to their home town. This credit was greatly enhanced by the fact that all of the Kingston delegation refrained from doing any orating—at least in public.

The speechmaking opened with an invocation by the Rev. John Sheridan Zelle, a Presbyterian, and closed with the benediction by the Rev. Peter J. Donnelly, a Roman Catholic. In between there were addresses by Gen. J. Leslie Kincaid, Gov. Alfred E. Smith, Mayor Clinton and various Troy notabilities. The food was good. General Kincaid's speech was brief and Governor Smith did not say a word about politics, so a good time was had by all present. The dinner was held in the ball room and about 400 were in attendance.

The verdict of the Kingston delegation is that while Troy has a larger hotel than Kingston neither the service nor the interior arrangements are superior to those of The Governor Clinton, while the views from inside looking outside are far more attractive here.

General Kincaid says that The Governor Clinton is unique in that it combines all the best features of a city hotel, a tourist resort and a country hotel, with city conveniences for the resting place of the dead, and country scenery. He is delighted and referred with infinite charm of spirituality to the doctrine of the Resurrection as flowing from Calvary, and the tragedy of the cross as the gateway to eternal life.

The pastor, Father Neumann, in his usual scholarly manner, accepted this gift in behalf of his congregation and paid a tender tribute to the sweet and edifying character of Miss Sotie Rice through whose generosity and Christian faith this wonderful gift was made possible.

With a voice ringing with pathos he urged his people to make frequent and prayerful visits to this group which would instill into their hearts a fervent love and a lasting memory for all who rest in God's Acre.

BUSINESS STILL IN GOOD VOLUME

General business conditions may now be said to be about 9 per cent above normal. The first of the year they were about 15 per cent above normal, so that although business has fallen off it is still operating at a relatively high level. Those who are interested in public utilities will note the especially favorable showing of electric power production, where each month records a very considerable increase over the corresponding month of a year ago.
Electric power is becoming more and more an economic factor of first importance. Mail-order sales and car-loadings continue to show a good volume of business.

While last December showed the greatest relative value of mail-order trade during the past 6 months,
April was better than either January or February but below March, December and November.

Your watch, too, should be
"well-dressed"

You insist upon style, of course, in your clothing, your automobile, your home—in fact, in almost everything that serves you in this business of living.

Yet one point may have escaped you, as it has so many others. And that is—your watch.

Today there must be style in your watch —true art in its design, distinctiveness in its shape and finish. An old-fashioned, bulky, over-ornamented watch may ruin an otherwise excellent attire.

In our complete stock you will find the "best-dressed" watches that money can buy—fitted in the celebrated Wadsworth Cases, the acknowledged style leaders in the dress of fine watches.

Cordially yours,
